

When a Family Member Goes to Prison

Families serve an invisible sentence when somebody goes to prison. The Community Restorative Centre (CRC) is offering a one-day workshop providing information & strategies for community workers engaged with families whose lives are affected by the criminal justice system..

“Excellent training session – clear, concise, well presented, great workbook.”

“The training covered everything I wanted to know. I feel far more equipped to work with families who have a family member incarcerated.”

By the end of the workshop, workers will have:

- An understanding of the NSW courts and prison system
- Knowledge of the impact of incarceration on families & the complex issues they encounter
- Practical knowledge of ways in which to work more effectively with and support this client group
- Knowledge of available services & resources

“I had no idea of the difficulties families faced when someone went to prison, this training will help me so much in my work.”

One-day workshop: Wednesday 28th April 2010
from 9.00am – 4.30 pm.
Venue: Quality Inn
51 Fitzroy Street, Grafton.

Cost: $165.00 (inc GST)

Download registration form

CRC is a NSW community organisation with 58 years experience in supporting people affected by the criminal justice system.

For more details please contact CRC on (02) 9288 8700, email info@crcnsw.org.au or visit our website www.crcnsw.org.au